2. Travel by Air

Coming from outside of Europe

- Milan Malpensa (MXP) is the busiest in the region and is located 31 miles northwest of Milan
- Milan Linate Enrico Forlanini Airport (LIN), to the east of Milan, is just four miles from the city center but is a much smaller airport.
- Venice Marco Polo Airport (VCE). It is possible to make the journey to Verona by train, bus or in a rental car.

Coming from within Europe

- Verona-Villafranca "Valerio Catullo" Airport (VRN): this is the closest to the venue. A taxi can take you to Grezzana.
- Bergamo/ Orio al Serio "Il Caravaggio" Airport (BGY): European budget airlines fly into this airport, only three miles from the city of Bergamo. There is a regular shuttle service between the airport and Verona.

3. Travel by Train

For Europeans travelling by train or those coming from the airports of Venice and Milano, Verona's main station where the fast trains arrive, is called Verona Porta Nuova.

Coming from Venice, Verona is 115 km (72 miles) away, travel time is 1 hour and 6 minutes and there are about 50 trains a day

Coming from Milano, Verona is 140 km (87 miles) away, travel time is 1 hour and 8 minutes and there are about 43 trains a day

4. Once in Verona

The Villa is 11 km from the city of Verona:

- by (rental) car (a 20 to 30 minute drive)
- by train (to be confirmed)
- by bus (to be confirmed)

5. Accommodation

For those staying in Verona, there are many hotels that can be found and booked on the Internet. A list of possible hotels will shortly be posted on our website with details of those that will have a shuttle to the Villa Arvedi .
